IMPERIAL CULTURE

THOUGHTFULLY CRAFTED

BRAND BOOK

The core manual that defines how the brand operates, looks and communicates: one source of truth uniting strategy, identity and design into a single living system for our live culture kombucha. It is written the way we brew, with patience, restraint and intention.

How to use this book

PURPOSE · WHAT THIS BOOK GOVERNS

The brand identity manual for The Imperial Culture:
who we are, what we stand for, and how the brand is presented consistently at every touchpoint.

Think of it as the single source of truth. When a question about the brand comes up, the answer lives here. Where a page conflicts with a newer approved decision, the record wins and this book is revised. The book is never overruled silently.

THE RULES OF USE

- ✔ Nothing ships off-system: colour, type, spacing and grid come from Visual identity (2.3), never reinvented per artwork
- ✔ The wordmark is never redrawn, recoloured or rebuilt: assets come from Documents (4.1)
- ✔ Confidential: internal teams and authorised partners only, see Terms (1.0) and Legal (4.2)
- ✔ Nothing public without sign-off: the approval path in Governance (4.3) closes every release

READING THIS BOOK · THE SYSTEM IS MODULAR

START WITH STRATEGY

Part 1 to 2.1 explain the thinking. Read them once so every later decision stays anchored.

LEARN THE IDENTITY

Parts 2.2 and 2.3 are the working reference: voice, logo, colour, type and elements.

APPLY WITH CONFIDENCE

Part 3 shows the brand in the real world. Match new work to the closest example.

PROTECT AND APPROVE

Part 4 governs files, legal use, collaboration and sign-off before anything ships.

TERMS & CONDITIONS

IMPORTANT NOTICE

This book is confidential. It circulates to The Imperial Culture staff and authorised partners only, and every copy remains the property of The Imperial Culture Sdn. Bhd. Access ends when a role or engagement ends, and copies are returned or destroyed on request.

OWNERSHIP

The name, marks, colour system, typography and visual signatures belong to The Imperial Culture Sdn. Bhd. The system is governed through the brand custodian. No period of use, however long, transfers any right in the marks or the masters.

ALTERATIONS

Masters are never modified. Refinement requests travel through the approval chain (4.3); a working copy is never the source of truth. When a rule blocks real work, the rule is raised and revised, never quietly bent.

DISTRIBUTION

Files come from Documents (4.1), versioned, via the brand custodian. Forwarded copies and re-exports fall outside the system and are withdrawn. If a file did not come from Documents, it does not speak for the brand.

PERMITTED USE

Use this book to produce on-brand work for The Imperial Culture. Nothing here may be republished, resold or supplied to a third party without sign-off. Work made inside these rules needs no further approval; anything outside them routes through the brand custodian first.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Recipes, unreleased flavours, supplier detail and commercial figures stay out of anything produced from this book. What the brand has not published, the brand does not publish, in any market and on any surface.

CLAIMS

Every health, function and labelling claim clears Legal (4.2) before publication, in each market it appears in. A credential seal is applied only where it has been cleared for that market.

ACCEPTANCE

Using any part of this system is acceptance of these terms. Exceptions are decided in Governance (4.3), not improvised. A recorded sign-off in that chain is the only path around any rule here.

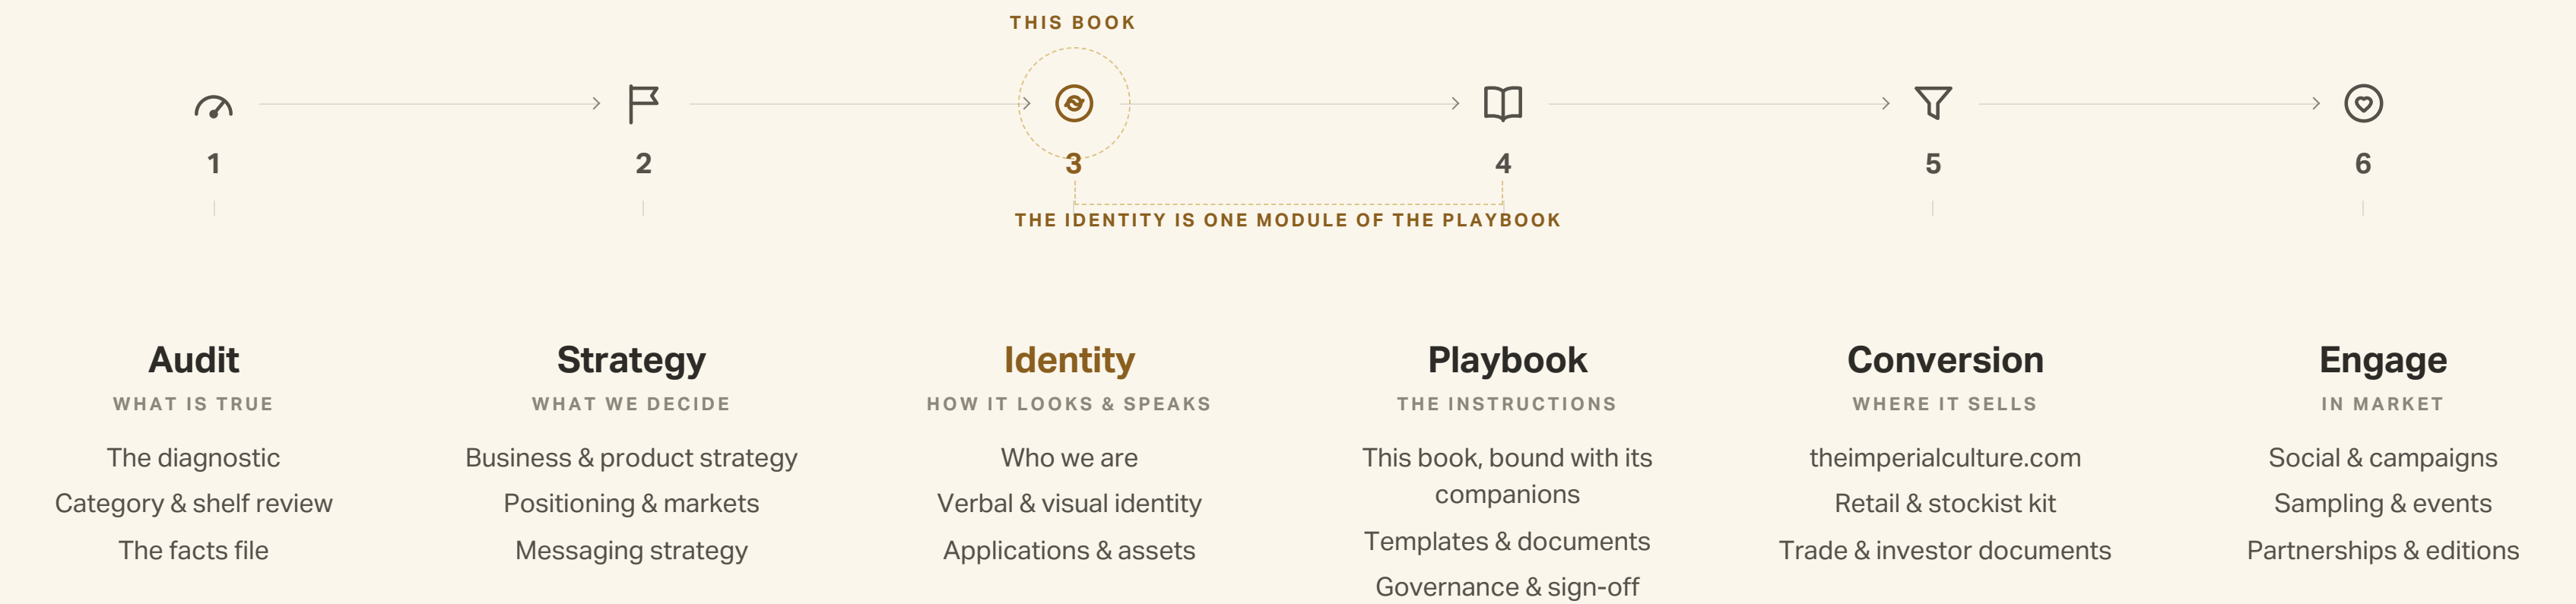

VALIDITY

This book is Brand OS v2.0. It stands until a versioned successor replaces it in Documents, and the newest master there is the only valid copy. A printed or exported copy is a snapshot, not the system.

Company introduction

WHAT THE IMPERIAL CULTURE IS

The Imperial Culture Sdn. Bhd. is a live culture kombucha maker: small-batch, slow-brewed, and genuinely alive.

We brew for modern, health-aware people who value quality and ritual, and we exist to make wellness feel like a pleasure, not a chore. Real fermentation, real function, no compromise.

THE DOUBLE MEANING · LOCKED

IN THE BOTTLE

The live culture

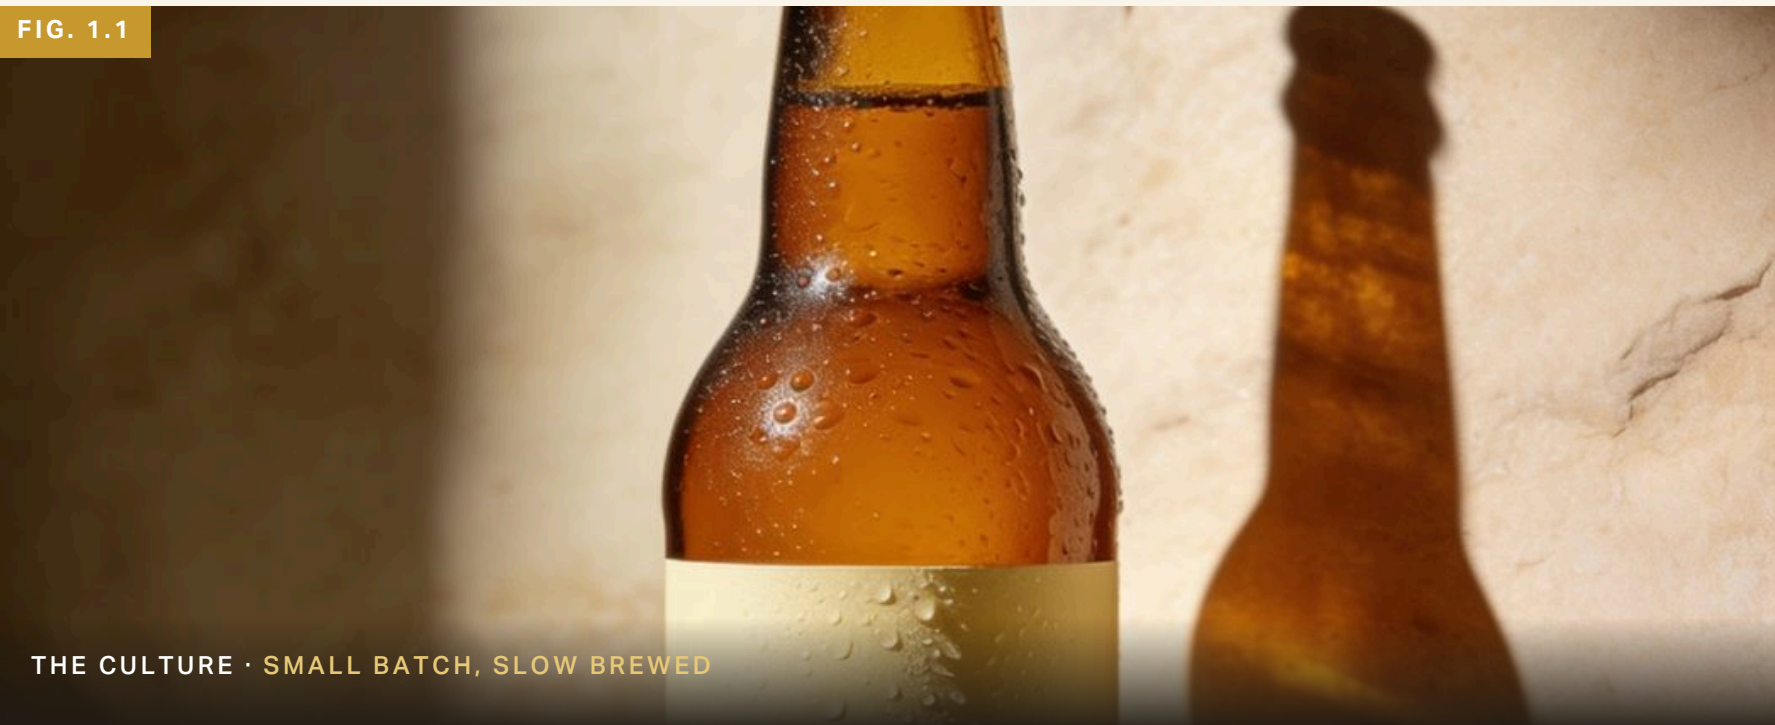

The ferment doing quiet work: live, raw and unfiltered, and the reason the drink tastes the way it does.

IN THE NAME

Culture as a way of living

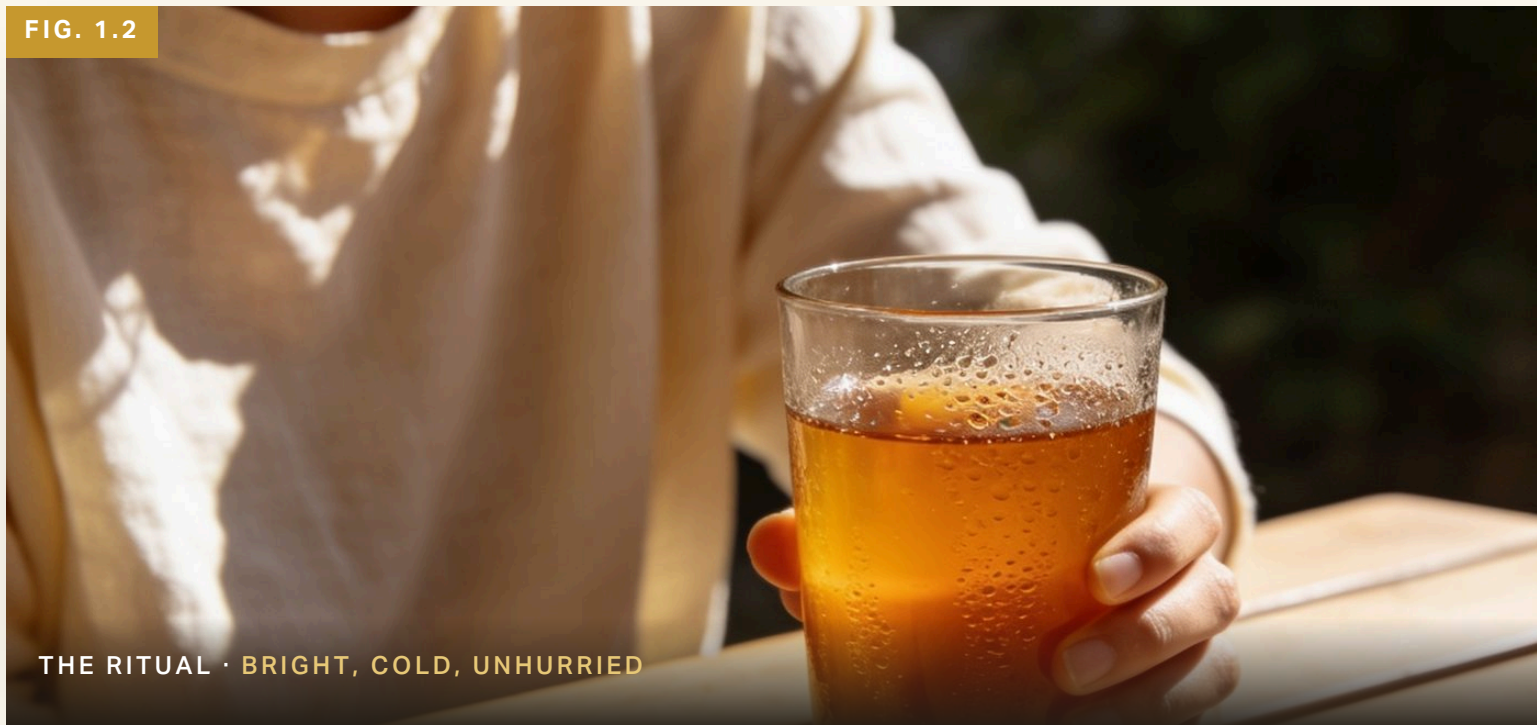

Taste, refinement and intention. The everyday ritual, made worth slowing down for.

Our story

THE NAME, THE HERITAGE, THE INTENT
CULTURE, TWICE OVER

TIME IS THE INGREDIENT

FIG. 2.1B

A brand born from patience

The Imperial Culture began with a simple idea: the best things are not rushed. Kombucha is a testament to that — a drink that develops its character through time, care, and the quiet work of a live culture.

Our name carries a double meaning at the heart of the brand: culture as the live culture behind the fermentation, and culture as taste, refinement, and a way of living well.

Our Malaysian heritage is woven into the brand itself. The pattern on every bottle draws inspiration from songket, the intricate gold-thread weaving traditionally associated with Malay courts, ceremony, and occasions of significance.

This is what Imperial means to us: an everyday drink made with the care and consideration of something ceremonial — thoughtfully crafted, beautifully presented, and worthy of being shared or given.

Positioning & brand script

ABOVE FUNCTIONAL, BESIDE RITUAL
CRAFT IS THE COMPETITIVE EDGE

WHERE WE STAND

A premium live culture kombucha for modern people who take wellbeing seriously but refuse to make it joyless.

We sit above the functional, mass-produced end of the category, and beside the everyday rituals of people who care what they put into their bodies. We compete on craft and taste, never on price or volume.

Category	LIVE CULTURE
Tier	PREMIUM, CRAFT, SMALL BATCH

We are not	MASS, CLINICAL, HYPE-LED

POSITIONING STATEMENT

For the modern wellness generation, The Imperial Culture is the live culture kombucha that makes feeling good feel good, because real craft, real culture and real taste should never be a compromise.

BRAND SCRIPT

Culture takes time. We give it time, and what comes back is a drink that’s alive, bright, and good for you. This is your everyday ritual, refined.

The north star for taglines, captions and long-form copy: always warm, confident, unhurried.

Vision & mission

WHERE WE ARE GOING
AND WHAT WE DO EVERY DAY

01 VISION

Our vision

To become the most loved live culture beverage of the modern wellness generation: the brand that proved feeling good and living well were always meant to be the same thing.

Most loved

NOT THE BIGGEST · THE ONE PEOPLE CHOOSE AGAIN

02 MISSION

Our mission

To craft honest, live culture kombucha that delivers real function and real pleasure, and to build a brand experience around it that feels calm, premium and genuinely human.

Honest craft

REAL FERMENTATION · REAL FUNCTION · REAL TASTE

Values & culture

WHAT WE LIVE BY
FIVE VALUES, NO EXCEPTIONS

Five values shape every decision

From how we brew to how we speak. If a piece of work cannot be traced to at least one of these, it is not ours.

01

Honest craft
Real fermentation, real ingredients, no shortcuts.

02

Patience as quality
We let the culture take its time. Good things aren't rushed.

03

Wellbeing, not pressure
We make wellness inviting, never preachy.

04

Quiet confidence
We let quality and taste speak, calm and premium.

05

Refined living
Everyday moments deserve beauty and intention.

Brand philosophy

THE BELIEF UNDER EVERYTHING
NOT LOUDER. WARMER.

CULTURE, CULTIVATED

FIG. 2.1C

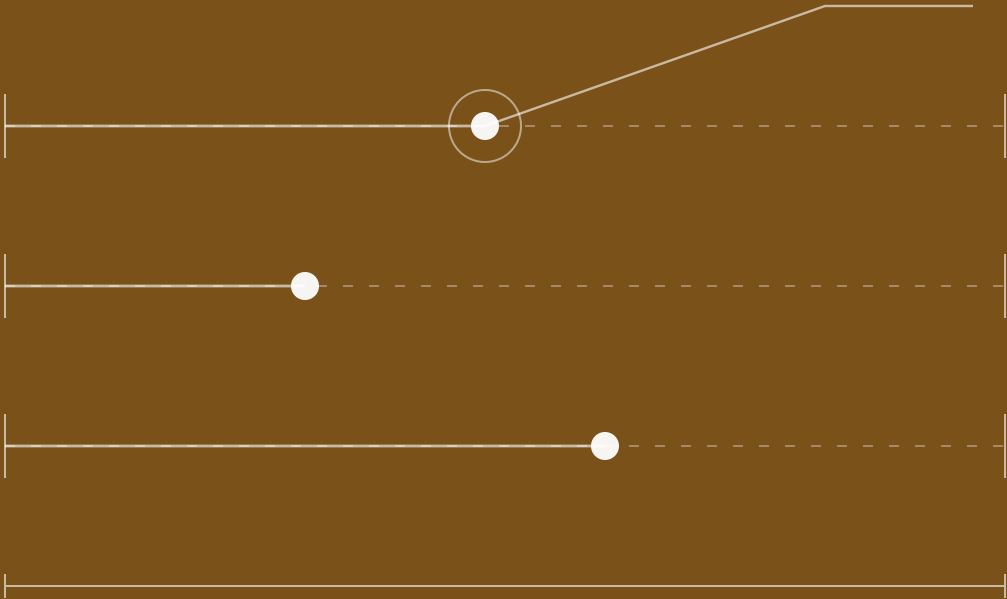

Culture, cultivated

We believe the things that are good for us should also feel good to us. Wellness has spent too long feeling like a discipline. We think it can feel like a pleasure.

So we design every part of the brand, the taste, the bottle, the words, the experience, to slow the moment down and make it feel more considered. Not louder. Warmer. More alive.

The Imperial Culture is about creating something people are glad to make part of their day, again and again.

VERBAL IDENTITY

How the brand sounds: warm, honest, quietly confident.

2.2

Voice & character

HOW WE SPEAK
WE INVITE, WE NEVER OVERSELL

The Imperial Culture speaks like a well-travelled friend who knows their craft: warm, assured, and easy to be around. We never oversell. We invite.

BRAND VOICE

Warm & assured

Confident without being loud, refined without being cold. Plain, generous and human.

BRAND CHARACTER

The considered host

The maker who cares about the details and wants you to enjoy the result, never lecturing.

PERSONALITY

Calm & cultured

Health literate but never preachy; makes wellness look like the most natural pleasure.

WE ARE

Tone principles

VOICE IS FIXED · TONE FLEXES
FIVE PRINCIPLES, EVERY MESSAGE

Five ways we communicate

Voice stays constant; tone flexes to the moment. These five principles keep every message sounding like The Imperial Culture.

- 01

Warm & confident
Lead with warmth and quiet certainty, never arrogant, never anxious.
- 02

Honest & unhurried
Tell the truth about the craft, and take time to say it well.
- 03

Inviting, not preachy
Open the door to good living; never wag a finger.
- 04

Crafted & considered
Every word chosen with the same care as the brew.
- 05

Alive & uplifting
Bright and effervescent; leave people feeling brighter.

How we communicate

✓ DO

- ✓ Speak plainly and generously, as if sharing something good.
- ✓ Be transparent about craft, ingredients and process.
- ✓ Frame wellness as pleasure and ritual, not duty.
- ✓ Edit ruthlessly: say more with less.
- ✓ Bring warmth, lightness and a little effervescence.

✗ DON'T

- ✗ Oversell, exaggerate, or stack superlatives.
- ✗ Make vague or unprovable health promises.
- ✗ Shame, guilt or moralise about health.
- ✗ Use filler, clichés or lazy buzzwords.
- ✗ Sound flat, cold, corporate or clinical.

Worked example. “Brewed slow and honest, bright on the tongue, kind to the gut.”

Off-brand example. “The #1 detox superdrink that finally fixes your gut, guaranteed!”

Verbal messaging

FOUR TERRITORIES
EVERY MESSAGE LADDERS TO ONE

01 The craft & culture
Real fermentation, patience, live cultures, honest ingredients.

02 Feeling good, made easy
Functional wellbeing as pleasure, never clinical or preachy.

03 The everyday ritual
The midday reset, the good table, the small pause.

04 Refined modern living
Taste, design, intention: wellness can be beautiful.

TAGLINE

Live cultured.

VISUAL IDENTITY

2.3

Design strategy

THE GUIDING IDEA
DISCIPLINE AROUND MOVEMENT

A live culture, kept under glass and under control

The visual system answers one question: how does a raw, live product read as premium without pretending to be still? The answer is discipline around movement. Structure holds the page; the brew is what moves inside it.

Everything after this page is downstream of that sentence. Where a design decision is contested, it is settled by asking which option keeps the structure calm and lets the product be the only thing alive on the surface.

THE APPROACH, IN THREE MOVES

- 01

Heritage, not nostalgia
The apothecary discipline of a brewer who measures everything: classical proportion, a governed palette, a serif used as a seal rather than as decoration.
- 02

Living, not static
Fermentation is the product and the metaphor. Effervescence, movement and a rising rhythm carry through the elements, the imagery and the motion.
- 03

Earned, not claimed
Every credential on a surface traces to a record. The system gives proof its own furniture — seals, notes, the tasting panel — so the brand never has to raise its voice.

Governs	LOGO, COLOUR, TYPE, ELEMENTS, IMAGERY
Decided by	THE BRAND CUSTODIAN · 4.3
Reviewed	ONCE A YEAR, AGAINST THE RECORD

Design principles

Four principles govern every design decision in this book. Where a layout is in doubt, the principle wins over the preference.

01

Warmth through light
Amber tones and soft light make every surface feel inviting and human, like golden hour, never cold.

02

Alive & effervescent
Bubbles, movement and living texture give the brand energy: bright, active, full of life.

03

Refined restraint
Premium is subtraction. Generous space, clean structure, one confident focal point. Nothing crowded.

04

Honest & natural
Real texture over gloss, real moments over staging. The craft is the story.

THE PARTS THAT MUST SURVIVE
EVERY REPRODUCTION

THE PARTS THAT MUST SURVIVE

Four things carry the meaning, so four things must survive every reproduction. If a process cannot hold all four, the mark goes up in size or the process changes.

- 01

The owl · the culture’s guardian

Drawn artwork, never redrawn. The owl watches over the brew: patience, night work and judgement. Its feathering and the branch are the first things a bad reproduction loses, which is why the mark carries its own size floor.
- 02

THE IMPERIAL CULTURE · the wordmark

Set once, spaced once, supplied as one file. The tracking is optical, not a value anyone can retype. Every placement in this book is that file, scaled by width.
- 03

Thoughtfully Crafted · the line

Part of the supplied lockup, not type we set. It is the only line allowed to sit inside the mark, and it is dropped whole below the digital floor rather than reset.
- 04

Imperial Gold · #C6982E

One gold, carried as a signal rather than a fill. On dark grounds the lockup reverses to white; in one-colour work it becomes Imperial Ink. No other colour enters the mark.

Construction & clear space

THE X UNIT GOVERNS EVERYTHING
CLEARSPACE = X

BUILT ON A GRID

X is the cap height of IMPERIAL CULTURE in the supplied lockup. Every measurement in the mark is a multiple of it, and minimum clearspace on all sides equals X: that zone stays free of type, imagery and competing elements.

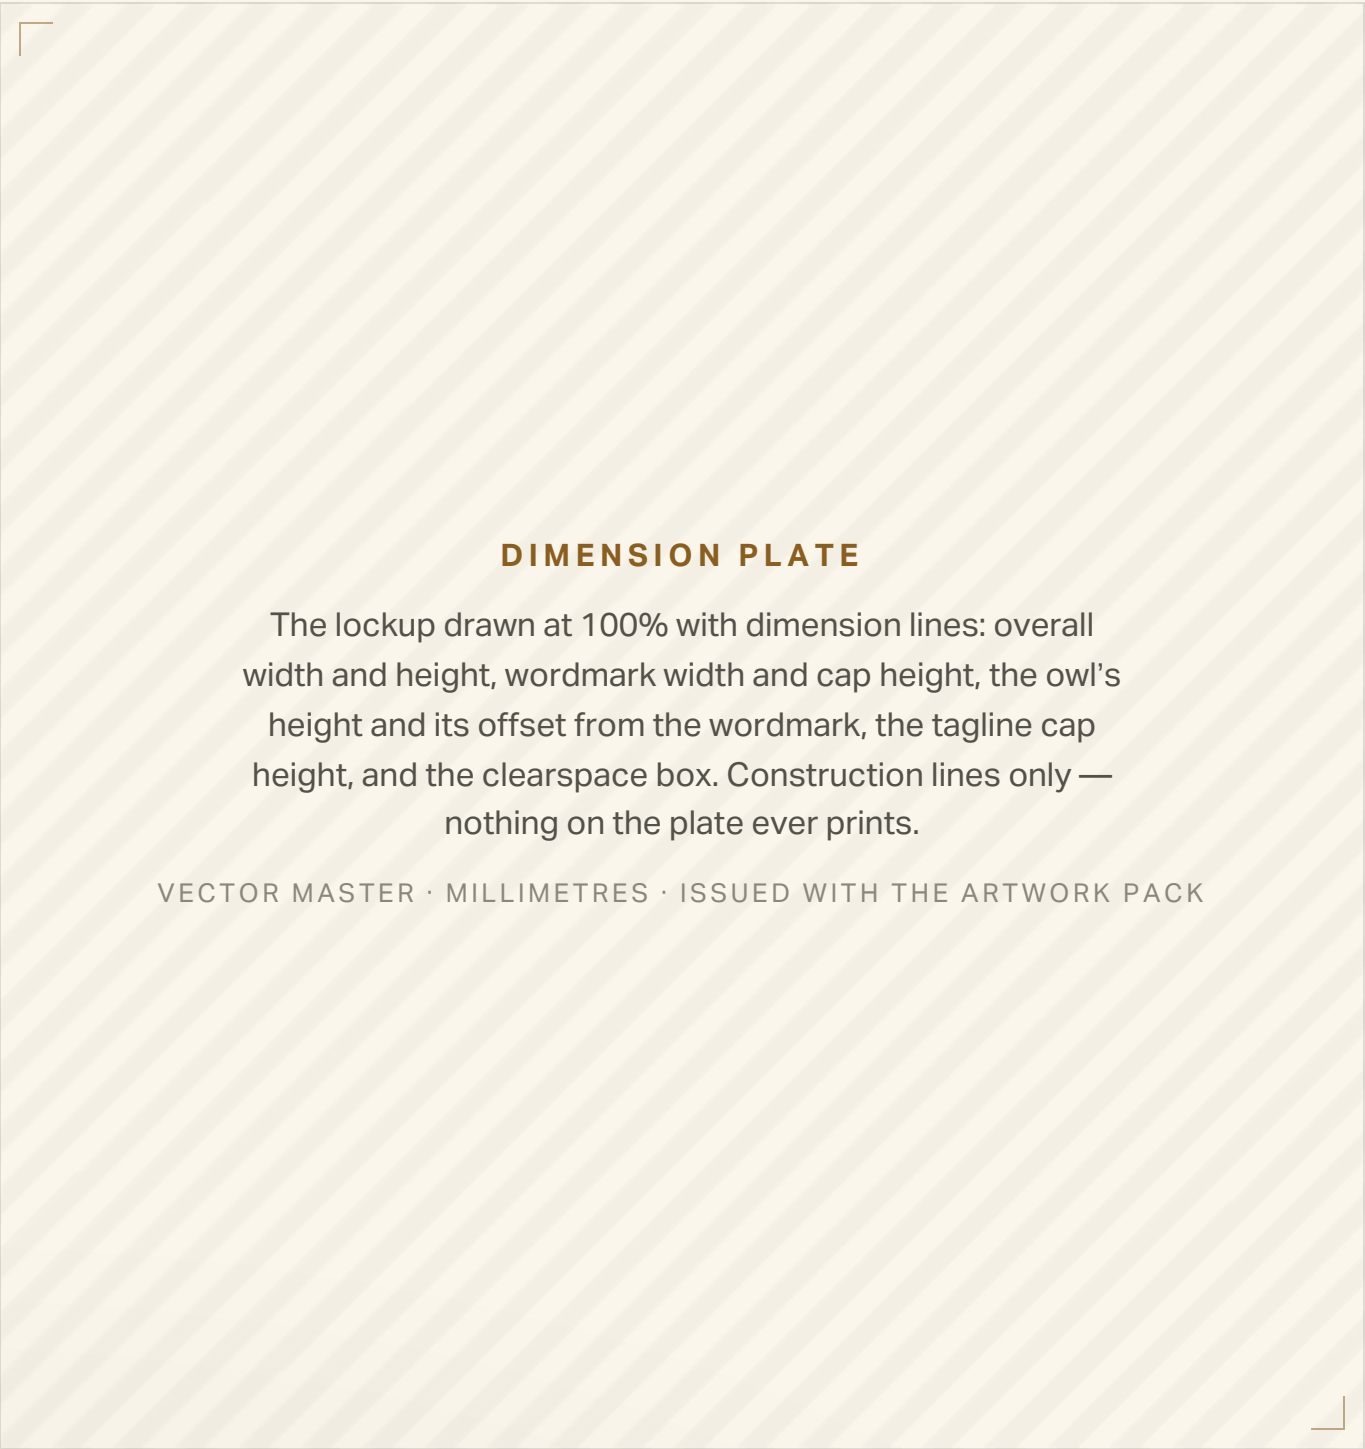

In print, clearspace is never less than 5 mm on the sides or 10 mm top and bottom, whichever is larger.

The unit X	CAP HEIGHT OF IMPERIAL CULTURE
Lockup height	2.97 X
Lockup width	18.49 X · RATIO 6.21 : 1
“THE” cap	0.66 X · SITS 0.39 X ABOVE
Tagline cap	0.29 X · SITS 0.64 X BELOW
Clearspace	X ON EVERY SIDE, ALL FORMS

No other element, type or image may enter the exclusion zone.
When a layout cannot hold it, the layout changes, not the clearspace.

WHAT THE PLATE WILL FIX

The X unit on the previous page governs proportion. The plate fixes absolute measures in millimetres, taken off the master file at 100%, so a printer, a signmaker or an embroiderer can set the mark without measuring a screen.

Until it is issued, set the lockup by width from the size pages that follow. Never scale a measure off this book: these pages are 1920 px wide, not a millimetre rule.

Brand mark · digital	40 PX MINIMUM
Brand mark · print	12 MM MINIMUM

The mark’s own floor. The owl is drawn artwork, not a monogram: below 40 px its feathering and the branch stop resolving. Where a smaller mark is genuinely needed, the wordmark or the brand block is used instead, never a redrawn simplification of the owl.

Tagline. “Thoughtfully Crafted” is part of the supplied lockup, not type we set. Below the digital floor it stops being legible, so the mark gives way to the brand mark rather than the tagline being reset or removed.

EVERY SIZE IS A WIDTH

The figures are the width of the wordmark, edge to edge on the finished piece at 100%. The mark sits at roughly a twelfth of the longest edge, then is checked against the 28 mm print floor. Below that floor the brand mark is used instead of a shrunken lockup.

The logo’s integrity is the brand’s integrity. These rules are absolute, with no exceptions for any channel, partner or campaign.

Never stretch, squash or skew.

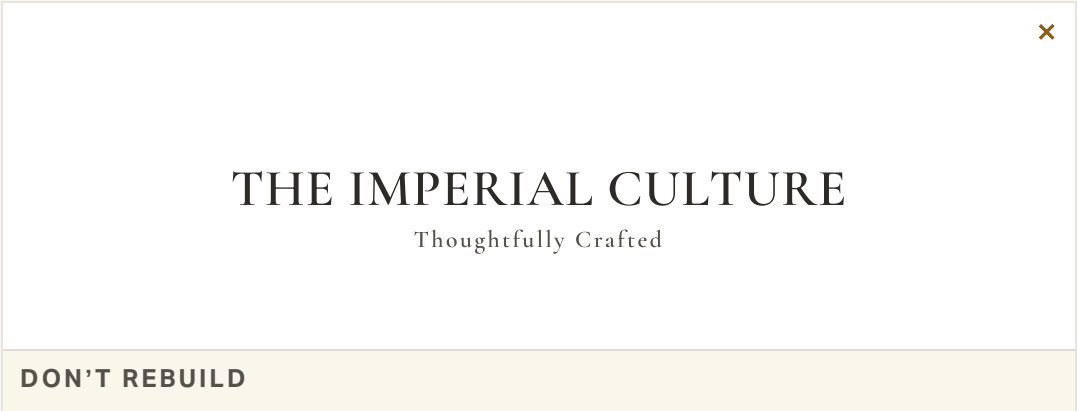

Only the four approved colourways.

No shadows, glows or outlines.

Never place on low-contrast grounds.

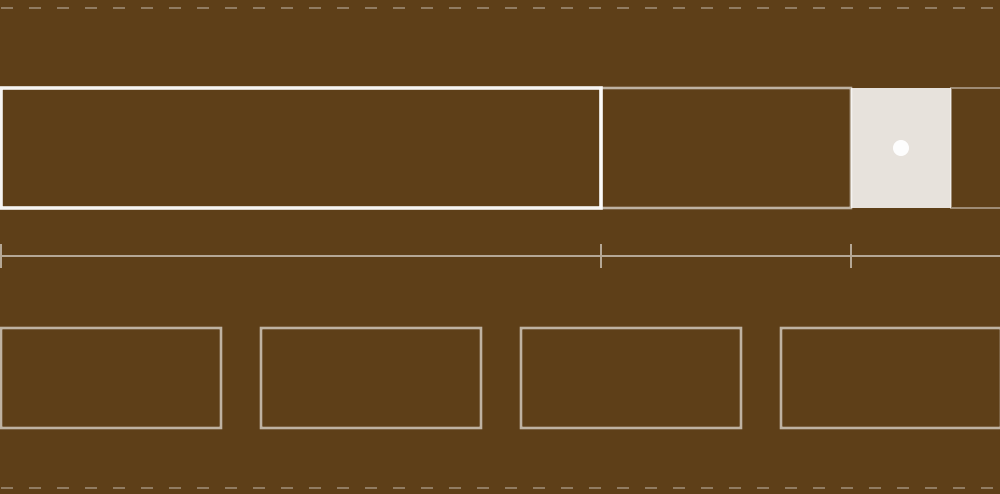

Never re-type or re-space the lockup.

The lockup is always level.

USAGE RATIO · THE IDENTITY

Cream carries the page, ink carries the words, gold marks the moment, the amber family adds depth. Change the ratio and the brand stops looking like itself, even with the right hexes.

LIVING GRADIENT

#E7C877 → #C6982E → #9A6A22 → #5E3F18. Hero surfaces and packaging only, never behind body copy.

Suggested pairing ✓

These pairings are set so the mark and the type stay legible on every surface, on screen, in print and on pack. Each clears the AA contrast floor and keeps Imperial Gold working as a signal rather than a field.

Use them as supplied. A pairing that is not on this page routes through the brand custodian before it ships.

CARDS & ALTERNATES

Avoid pairing !

These combinations compromise readability, contrast and balance. Gold on cream, ginger on cream and gold on amber all fall below the contrast floor.

Gold never carries a paragraph and never becomes a section background: it marks, it does not fill. A mark set on a gradient or a busy photograph loses its edge.

If a surface cannot hold an approved pairing, the surface is redesigned, not the palette. Nothing here is re-tinted to make a layout work.

One job only. Cormorant Garamond is the seal on the system, not a body face. It sets short editorial lines, pull statements and the tasting language — never a paragraph, never a label, never a caption. Italic 500 is the working cut; roman is used only where an italic would read as emphasis. Where the licence cannot follow, substitute EB Garamond, then Georgia.

✓ DO

- ✓ Shoot in warm, natural, golden-hour light.
- ✓ Show real texture: glass, condensation, tea, stone.
- ✓ Keep compositions calm with one clear focal point.

✗ DON'T

- ✗ Use cold, blue or harsh flat lighting.

- ✗ Use clichéd stock or clinical health imagery.

SYSTEM DON'TS

2.3.8

System don'ts

SIX WAYS TO DILUTE IT
NONE OF THEM SHIP

Misuse is not only a logo problem. These are the six ways the wider system gets diluted, in order of how often it happens.

COLOUR

Gold as a page field, new tints, or off-palette accents.

TYPE

A third typeface, synthetic bold or italic, or a size off the ladder.

LAYOUT

Crowded corners, competing focal points, or content outside the margins.

IMAGERY

Cold light, clinical staging, or the mark floating on a busy photograph.

ELEMENTS

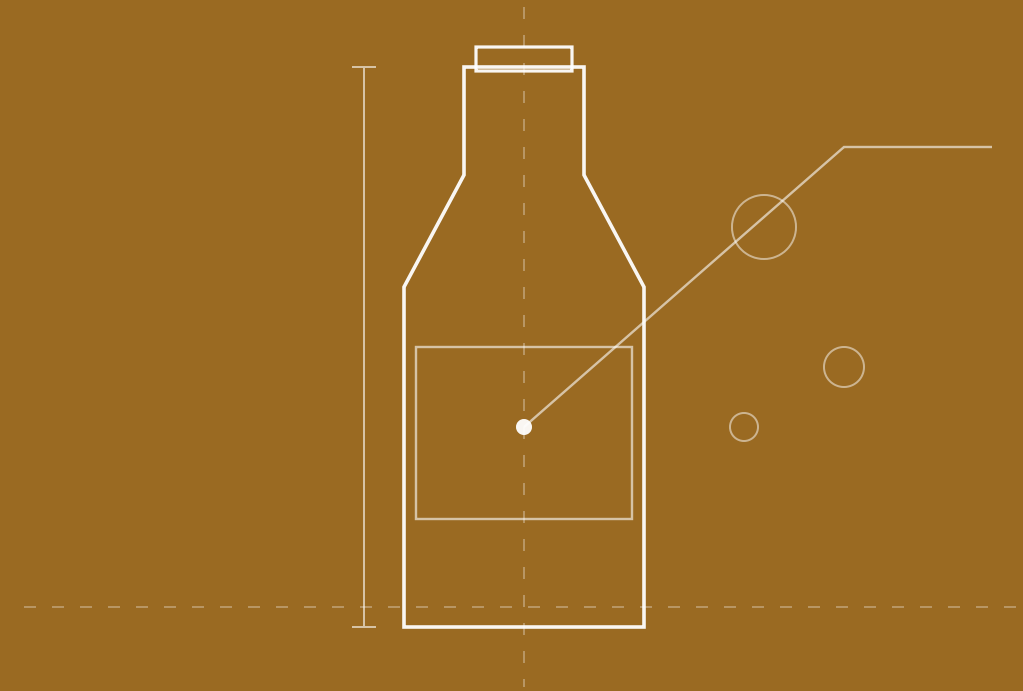

Bubbles behind body copy, gradients under text, or a fourth element.

ONE

Discount-led shouting, health claims, or hype in any channel.

The check. If a piece of work would still be recognisable as ours with the logo removed, the system is working. If it needs the logo to be identifiable, something on this page has gone wrong.

FIVE SEALS · ALL EARNED
NEVER APPLIED WITHOUT CLEARANCE

The seals we stand behind: honest markers of how The Imperial Culture is made, printed with pride on every bottle.

WHY THE CONVENTION EARNS ITS KEEP

A file name is the only piece of metadata that survives every transfer.

Named this way, a file sorts by type, states its colourway, and carries its own version — so nobody has to open five files to find the current one.

Prefix

TIC_ ON EVERY FILE, NO EXCEPTIONS

Separator

UNDERSCORE BETWEEN FIELDS, HYPHEN INSIDE ONE

Case

CAPITALISED FIELDS · NEVER ALL CAPS

Spaces

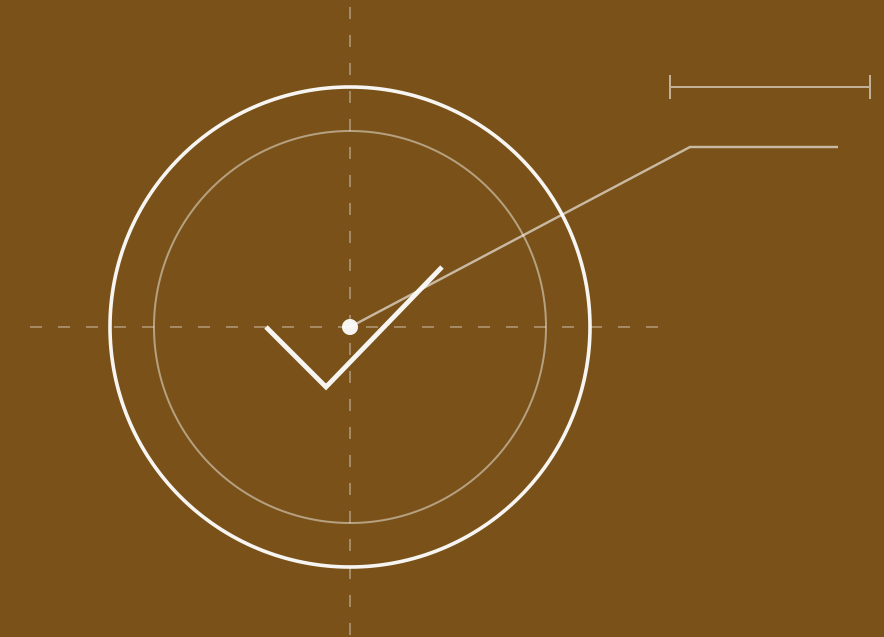

NONE · THEY BREAK LINKS AND SCRIPTS

Superseded

MOVED TO /_ARCHIVE, NEVER DELETED

Versions. Numbers only, never words: v2, not final, FINAL-v2 or use-this-one. A version increments when the artwork changes, never when it is re-exported. Dates do not appear in file names; the library holds the date.

LEGAL & TRADEMARK

The protection under the whole system.

4.2

Standard terms & conditions

SIX CLAUSES
SHORT ON PURPOSE

Six clauses govern the use of everything in this book. They are short on purpose: a term nobody reads protects nothing.

01 OWNERSHIP

The name, wordmark, owl, colour system, typography and every visual signature in this book are the property of The Imperial Culture Sdn. Bhd. No part of the identity is licensed by being sent to you.

04 DISTRIBUTION

This book and the asset library are confidential. They are not forwarded, posted, uploaded to a public drive, or shared with a sub-contractor without the brand custodian being told who received them.

02 PERMITTED USE

Use is granted for work commissioned by The Imperial Culture, for the term of that work. Nothing here grants a right to use the identity on your own materials, credentials or portfolio without written consent.

05 CLAIMS

Every product, health, ingredient and provenance claim clears legal review before publication, in every market. A claim approved for one market is not approved for the next.

03 ALTERATIONS

No element may be redrawn, recoloured, re-spaced, extended or combined into a new mark. Where a surface cannot hold the system, the surface changes, not the system.

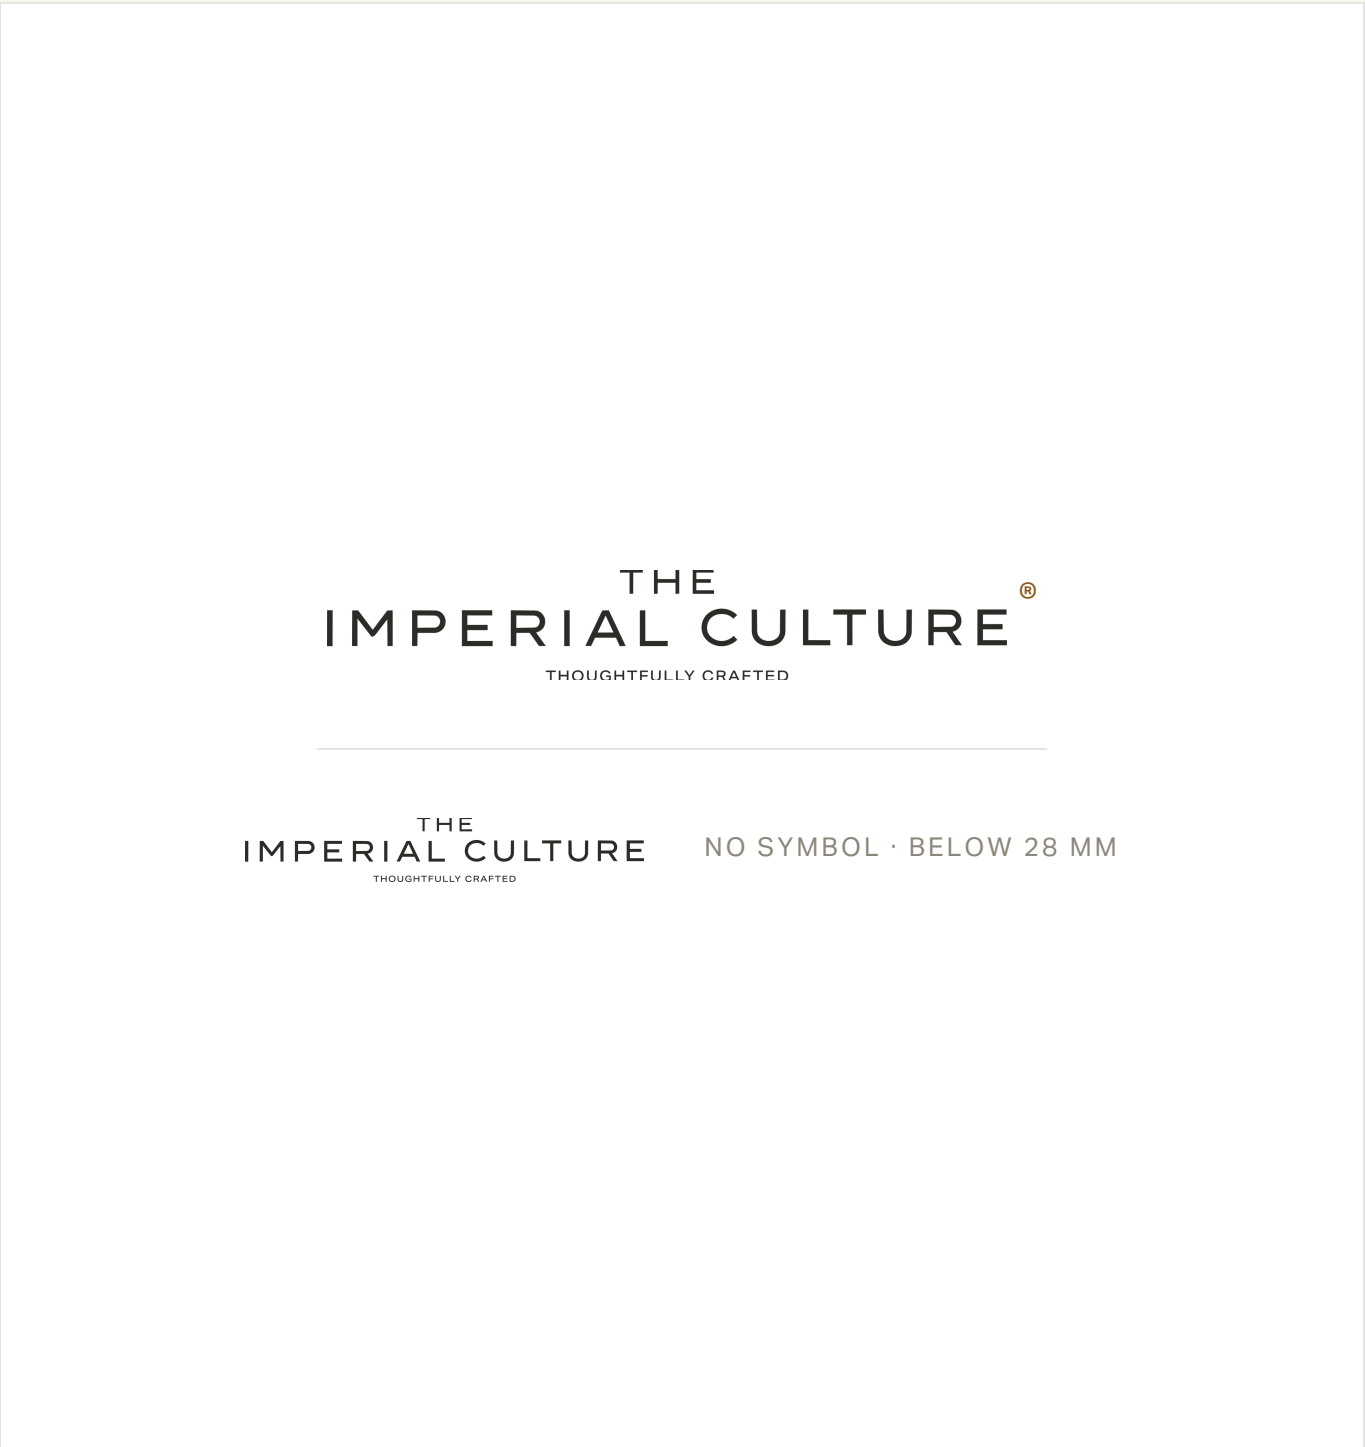

06 ACCEPTANCE

Using any part of this system is acceptance of these terms. Exceptions are decided in Governance & approvals, not improvised, and a recorded sign-off is the only path around any rule in this book.

Validity. This book is Brand OS v2.0, edition 1.0. It stands until a versioned successor replaces it in the library, and the newest master there is the only valid copy. A printed or exported copy is a snapshot, not the system.

Trademark usage

THE NAME IS THE ASSET
A BRAND, NEVER A NOUN

THE SYMBOL TRAVELS WITH THE MARK ON FORMAL USE

DROPPED BELOW THE PRINT FLOOR

USING THE NAME, NOT JUST THE MARK

A trademark is kept by using it consistently as a brand, not as a common noun.
“The Imperial Culture kombucha” protects the mark; “an imperial culture” erodes it.

Always	INITIAL CAPITALS · THE IMPERIAL CULTURE
Always	AS AN ADJECTIVE · THE BRAND, THEN THE PRODUCT
Never	PLURAL, POSSESSIVE OR VERB FORM OF THE NAME
Never	ABBREVIATED TO “IMPERIAL” IN PUBLISHED WORK
Symbol	FIRST AND MOST PROMINENT USE · PER MARKET
Floor	SYMBOL DROPPED BELOW 28 MM OR 140 PX

First use. On any formal document, carry the symbol on the first and most prominent appearance of the mark, then omit it thereafter on the same surface. Apply the symbol as legal counsel advises for each market — registration status differs by country, and this book does not substitute for that advice.

Collaboration & co-branding

THREE POSTURES · ONE STANDARD
NEITHER BRAND CROWDS THE OTHER

Partnerships extend our reach, but never at the cost of our identity. When The Imperial Culture works with others, the brand leads with clarity, warmth and equal respect.

TIC LEADS

Curated collaborations and in-house editions. The Imperial Culture name takes primary position.

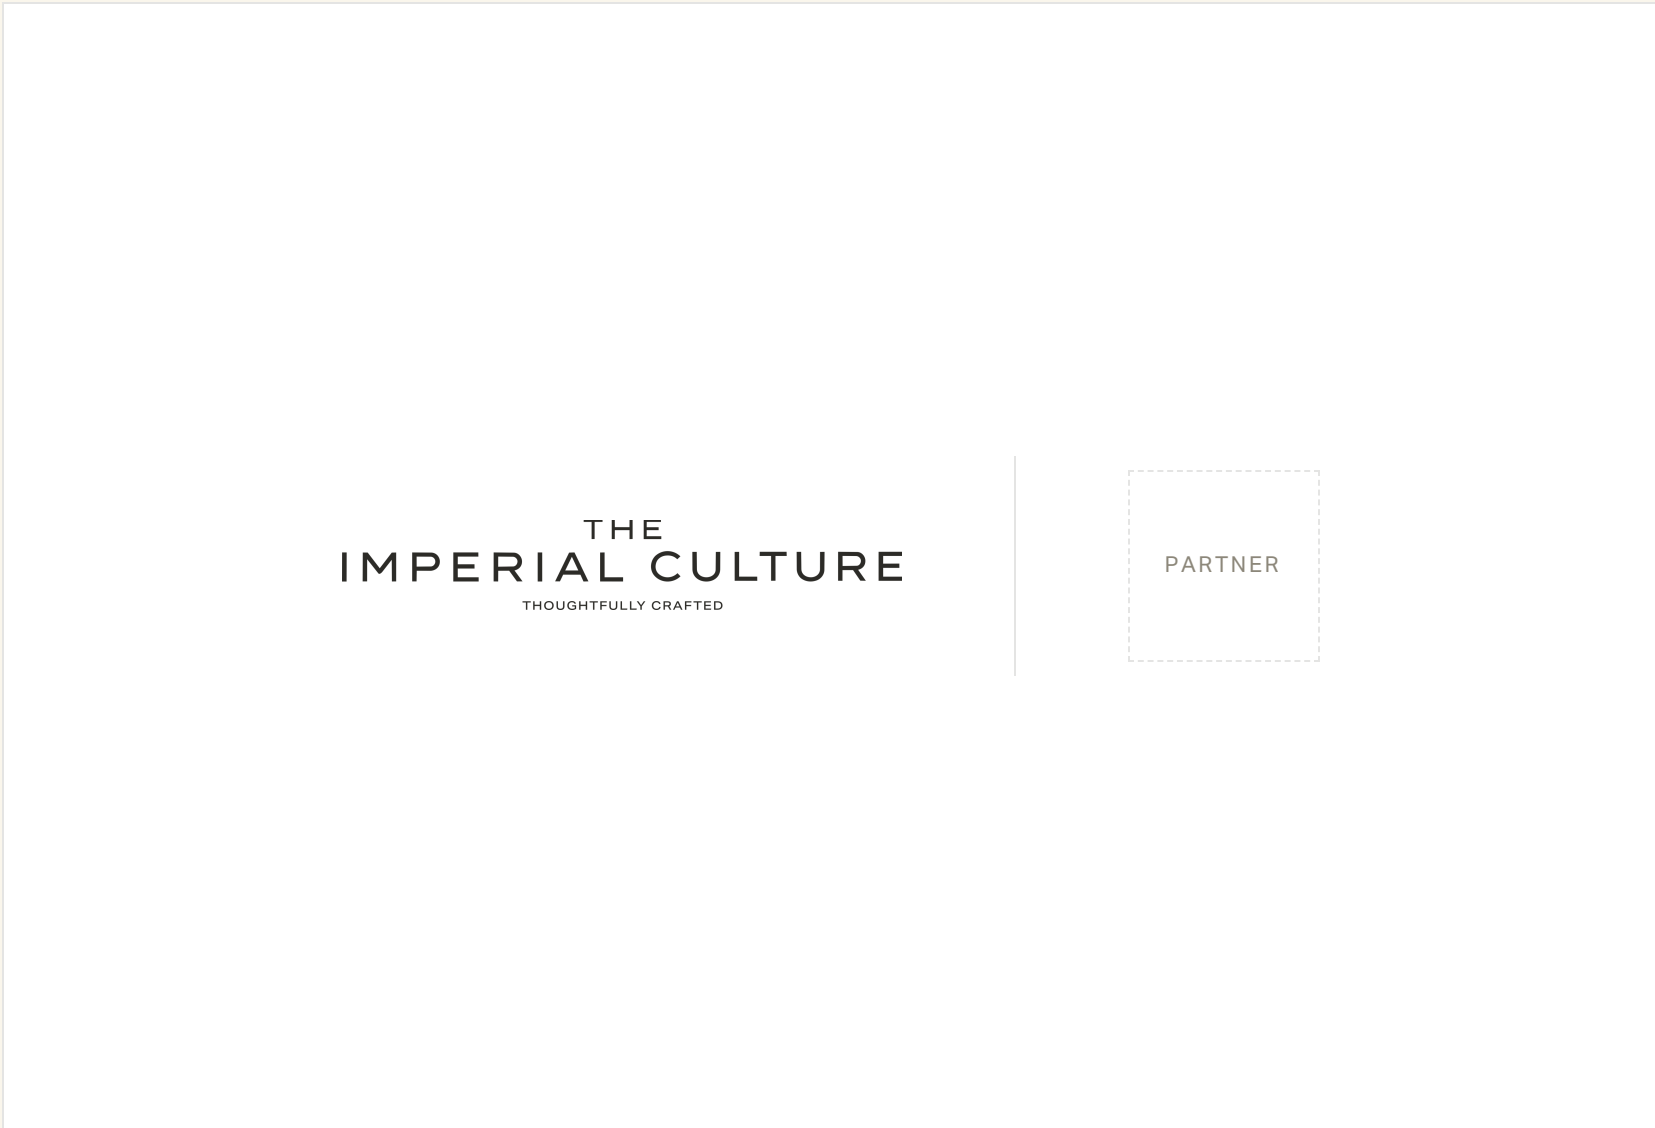

EQUAL PARTNERSHIP

Co-branded work. Clear, balanced lockups with defined spacing. Neither brand crowds the other.

NEVER

No cramped lockups, no colour compromise, no mixing of brand assets into a single mark.

THE CO-BRAND LOCKUP

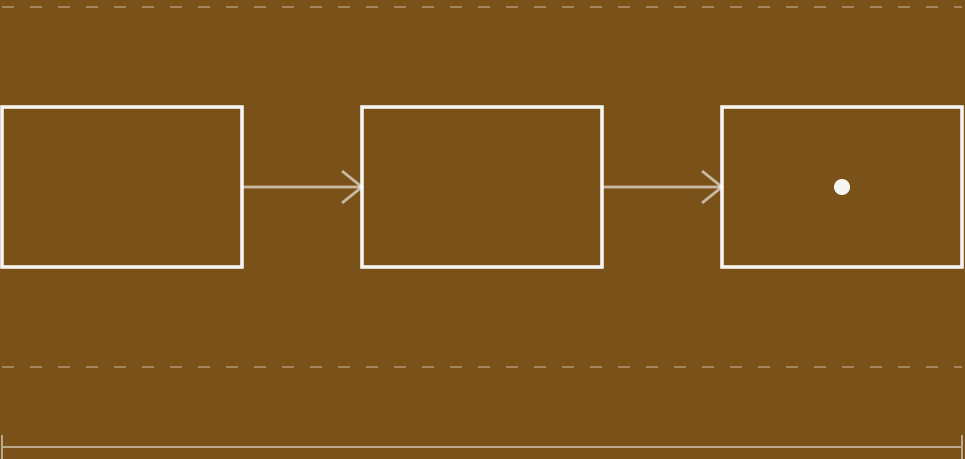

EQUAL LOCKUP · DIVIDER = X, CLEARSPACE = X EACH SIDE

APPROVED

Rule. Every partnership must protect the calm, premium character of the brand. If a collaboration would make TIC feel loud, cheap or off-tone, it is not the right partnership.

GOVERNANCE

Consistency is not negotiable.

4.3

Who guards the brand

A system without a named owner is a suggestion. Four roles carry this book, and each one knows which decisions are theirs and which are not.

THE BRAND CUSTODIAN

MARKETING & BRAND DIVISION

Owns this book, the asset library and every exception to it. The only role that can approve a use this book does not cover, and the only route by which files leave the library.

THE APPROVER

FOUNDER · MANAGING DIRECTOR

Signs off packaging artwork, any new product name, any co-branded lockup and any change to the identity itself. Nothing in those four categories ships on a custodian's approval alone.

THE REVIEWER

LEGAL COUNSEL · EXTERNAL

Clears every product, health, ingredient and provenance claim, per market, before publication. Holds the claim register.

THE IMPLEMENTER

AGENCIES, PRINTERS, SUPPLIERS, STAFF

Builds to this book and raises anything it does not answer rather than deciding locally. Sends work for approval before production, not after.

Standing rule. When two people disagree about a brand decision, the custodian decides; when the decision touches the identity, the pack or the name, the approver decides. Neither decision is made in a thread — it is recorded, and the recorded answer becomes the next edition’s rule.

ONCE A YEAR · AGAINST THE RECORD

Exceptions

RECORDED BY THE CUSTODIAN, NEVER VERBAL

Escalation

CUSTODIAN → APPROVER · TWO DAYS

Protecting against dilution

THREE PRINCIPLES · FIVE RISKS
DILUTION IS CUMULATIVE

CORE PRINCIPLES

- 01

Consistency over novelty
Repetition builds recognition. Resist constant reinvention.
- 02

Quality over volume
Never trade craft or premium feel for reach or speed.
- 03

Guard the tone
Avoid discount-led, hype or clinical messaging in every channel.

DILUTION RISKS TO WATCH

Aggressive discounting and “sale” messaging.
- ✗

Off-brand colour, type or cluttered layouts.
- ✗

Cheap materials or inconsistent packaging.

Overextending the range without structure.

Partnerships that clash with brand values.

The custodian’s question. Not “is this on brand?” but “if we did this every week for a year, what would the brand become?”
Dilution is rarely one bad piece; it is a hundred small compromises.

Approvals & sign-off

THREE STEPS · ONE CUSTODIAN
ONLY APPROVED WORK SHIPS

This guide upholds the brand’s integrity, but it cannot cover every case. When a new application is not answered here, route it through the brand custodian before it goes live.

STEP 1

Create to guide

Match new work to the closest existing standard in this book.

STEP 2

Submit for review

Send to the brand custodian with context: channel, market, run length.

STEP 3

Approve & release

Only approved work ships, prints or publishes. No exceptions.

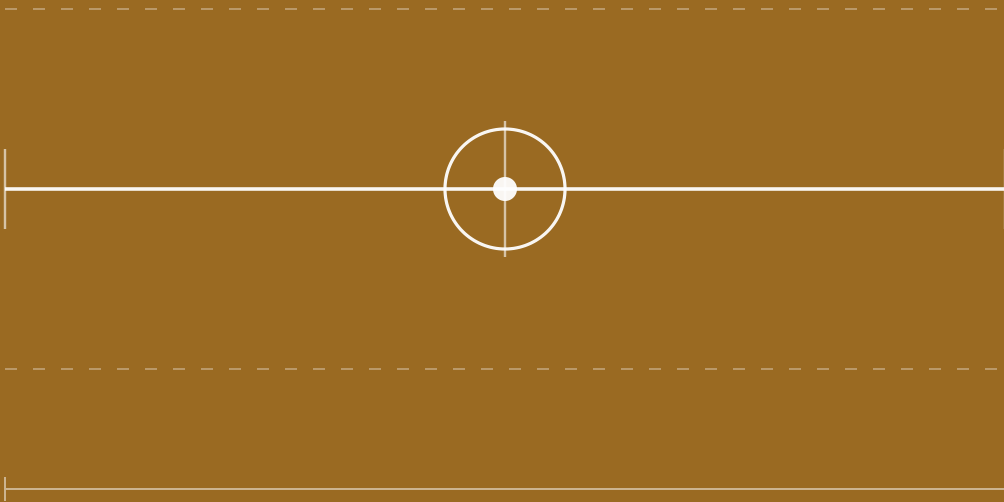

WHAT ALWAYS NEEDS SIGN-OFF

- ✓ All packaging and label artwork
- ✓ New product names and edition badging
- ✓ Out of home, press and paid media
- ✓ Anything carrying a health or function claim
- ✓ Co-branded and partnership lockups
- ✓ Any new application not covered in this book

TURNAROUND

Allow three working days for standard review, and five for anything carrying a health or regulatory claim. Rush requests are accepted, but the standard is never lowered to meet a deadline.

WHAT THIS SECTION IS NOT

The appendix carries no rules. Every governing statement in this book sits in sections 2, 3 and 4; if a question is answered here, it is answered about the document, not about the brand.

Before you publish. The contacts page is the one to keep open: it carries the custodian route, the approval window and what this edition of the book is.
